Georgetown January 14th 1825

Dear Sir,

The promotion of Judge Trimble to the bench of the Court of Appeals having occasioned a vacancy in his circuit I beg leave to mention Henry O Brown Esq as his successor.

The claims of Mr Brown are founded in eminent talents, the most unbending integrity, the greatest disinterestedness and the most distinguished services to his country during the late struggle with England.

His numerous good qualities are not only known to your excellency but can be attested by all who have ever known him.

My acquaintance with him has been of many years standing and if merit is to be the test of preferment, I am confident you will give his claims a serious consideration — I have never known an individual possessing more amiable traits of character and I am satisfied his appointment will give general satisfaction throughout the district. May I be permitted to inform your excellency that his appointment would be highly gratifying to myself and would meet with the most unqualified approbation of all with whom I have spoken on the subject.

With sentiments of high respect &c
